Miss Ruth Naus spent the week-end with relatives in Altoona.

Mr. John Fletcher spent Tuesday in Cumberland transacting business.

Mr. James F. Boor, of Riddlesburg, was seen on our streets on Wednesday.

Squire N. C. Mearkle of Monroe Township was a Bedford visitor this week.

Wade H. Figard of Six Mile Run, transacted business in Bedford yesterday.

Mr. A. M. Imbler of Windber was a pleasant caller at the Gazette office this week.

Mr. Harry Gilchrist, our produce man has bought several car loads of cabbage this week.

Mrs. Henderson Points of Johnstown visited relatives and friends in Bedford this week.

Messrs. Harry Chamberlain and Herman Barkman transacted business in Bedford last week.

Rev. J. Albert Eyer and elder D. W. Beam from St. John's Reformed Church are attending Potomac Synod at Hagerstown, Md.

Miss Mary Otto, returned home Tuesday evening after visiting relatives and friends in Pittsburgh for several days.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Yont, Mrs. Anna Wertz and daughter, Marie and Mr. Moses Lippel motored to Cumberland Tuesday.

Mrs. Sarah E. Rowe and daughter, Blanche of Altoona spent this week with the former's niece, Mrs. Scott Hammer and family.

Mr. Paul Naus spent several days recently with his sister, Mrs. Earl Swartzwelder at Albright, W. Va.

Mr. Henry Lippel of Cumberland, was a business visitor to Bedford on Wednesday.

Rev. J. C. Reighard of Blain, will preach Sunday morning in the Methodist Lutheran Church north of Bedford.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Horne, Misses Dorothy Allen and Mabel Diehl and Roy Allen motored to Gettysburg on Sunday returning home Monday evening.

Miss Myrtle MacDonald, who spent the past three weeks at the home of Attorney and Mrs. George Points returned to her home in Cumberland on Sunday.

Over 75 bright beautiful children of this town from 3 to 10 years of age will give a complete imitation of a "Society" wedding on the night of Nov. 27 for the benefit of the four primary schools who have subscribed for two fifty dollar Liberty Bonds. Don't forget the date.

The funeral of Mollie N. Smith was held from her late home at Chalybeate on Wednesday afternoon. Rev. C. R. Allenbach of the Bedford Lutheran Church officiating.

The Bedford Twp School Board met at their usual place of business last Saturday, and elected Miss Gertrude Oyler, teacher of the Moore School upon the resignation of Miss Ada Deaner, now Mrs. Dewey Biesel. Miss Oyler has been one of the county's most successful teachers for eight years and the School Board is lucky in securing her services.

None but patriotic citizens can understand the sermon on page one. Read it carefully!

The Bedford Auxiliary of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society of the Methodist Church will celebrate its thirtieth anniversary on Wednesday evening October 31 in the church at 7.30 o'clock. A program of special interest is in preparation and a general invitation is extended to the public, especially the missionary societies of other denominations including the laymen as well.

All persons having jams and jellies for the soldiers, please bring them to the Emergency Aid Room in the Fyan building not later than this afternoon at which time they will pack them.

Messrs. M. C. Miller and son, Harold, Clarence Yeankle, John Washinger and Howard Steiner motored from Mercersburg Sunday and spent the day with the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Steiner.

Don't put the old "Cough Syrup" back into the Poor House. Vote Joseph Stayer of Bedford township and let him keep an eye on the doings of the board. It will pay you, Mr. Tax Payer, to think this over.

EMERGENCY AID AND
NAVY LEAGUE NOTES

Yarn for Co. "L."

Through the kindness of a Bedford citizen the E. A. and Navy League secured 100 lbs. of khaki wool at a discount. It came from the factory untwisted, hence the reduction as noted in last report. Wool is still being given out to knitters for Company "L" without charge. But in order that all branch organization share in this reduction it was sold to them at 75 c per hank. The uniform price of knitting worsted in all stores is 90s per hank. The boys of Company "L" are being supplied with the knitted sets as rapidly as possible and a great quantity of wool is needed. Contributions to this worthy cause are greatly appreciated by the Navy League.

To our last box of clothing to the Belgians, Mr. Harold Smith contributed 3 dozen new hats and caps for boys.

The workers have been working the past week on the sale of Liberty Bonds.

A Bedford lady recently visited the headquarters of both the Emergency Aid and Navy League in Philadelphia and was warmly congratulated upon the amount of work being done in our county. She was told that Bedford County is one of the leaders of Pennsylvania in this great work for the sake of humanity. The great amount of work sent in since we organized, the care with which the surgical dressings were made, and the careful packing of all cases were commented upon. The donation of Xmas bags for the Overseas Committee was the largest received from any county. This should be very encouraging to all our county organizations.

A number of our local workers attended a big Liberty Loan meeting in Centerville Saturday night, Oct. 20th. A collection was taken for the benefit of Centerville Branch of E. A. and Navy League amounting to $10.40. Centerville also contributed $3.31 for testaments for the County Boys. Centerville's E. A. sent in Oct. 4th the following to the Bedford County organization for distribution as follows:

26 towels for American Ambulance Committee.
8 pillows and 8 pillow cases.
24 slings to British Com.

To the last box of Surgical dressings, Rainsburg contributed 4 dozen towels, 4 dozen muslin bandages and 7 binders all beautifully made. Cessna shipped the following to headquarters for Belgian sufferers.

2 union suits for boys; 5 under shirts for men; 4 pairs drawers for men; 2 pairs children hose; 6 vests for men; 2 petticoats; 3 dress skirts for ladies; 2 pairs woolen hose; 1 woolen shirt; 4 cloth sapes; 2 woolen caps; 1 hat for boy; 6 long coats for women; 5 short coats for women; 1 child's coat; 3 coats for men and boys; 2 overcoats for men; 2 pair shoes.

The Riddlesburg organization reports the shipment of 1 case (38 jars) jams and jellies from Public school children of Defiance.

1 case (38 jars) from Riddlesburg Schools.

1 case (27 jars) from the Emergency Aid of Riddlesburg also 1 case containing: 12 peasant shirts; 29 flannel shirts; 16 pink aprons (children); 18 blue aprons (children); 7 night gowns; 11 black aprons; 23 prs. wristlets; 1 pr. stockings.

The Bedford Schools collected the past week for shipment to the Overseas Committee 114 quart jars jams, jellies and other delicious looking canned fruit.

88 pt. Jars jams, etc.; 22 qt. jars of pickles; 7 pt. jars pickles; 3 qt. beans; 4 qt. tomatoes; 28 glasses jelly.

This was quite a fine donation for our school and their efforts are greatly appreciated by the local organization. The delicacies will be appreciated also by our soldiers far from home.

The following letter shows the great need of the knitted garments: Comforts Com. of the Navy League.

1414 H. Street.
Washington, D. C.
to Comforts Com. Officers, Units and Helpers.

October 1, 1917.

Ladies: We have received the letter published herewith from the Hon. Newton D. Baker, Secretary of War. This letter requesting the women of the Comforts Com. to furnish knitted garments to the soldiers in the trenches of France is one which presents a high duty and patriotic opportunity.

Of course, our first duty is to the Navy.

DOINGS AT THE CAMP

Camp Hancock, Augusta, Ga.
Oct. 21, 1917.

Editor Gazette:

It has been some time since I wrote a letter. So I will tell you some of the latest around camp.

This is a regular fall day in Georgia. The boys are all in their tents with fires burning. It has been cold here for the last three weeks. The leaves are turning yellow and the persimmons are falling fast. There are any amount of persimmons here. The wilds are about size of a plum, just like the kind that grow up in Pennsylvania. Those that are cultivated grow the size of a large apple. I am going to send some home, so if you people around Clearville want to see a large one call. (Might send some here, Ed.)

There has been many changes among the Regiments of Infantry, the 8th Regiment of which Co. L of Bedford belongs have been transferred to the 16th Regiment. The home Company is all broken up. One hundred and one of the men were sent to Co. L of 16th. Some were sent to the Supply Co. of same Regiment yesterday (Saturday). When the moving was going on, Capt. Heit was sitting on the stack of "bunks," heart-broken, watching the boys go. He had left with him High Serg. Diehl and four or five more "non-commissioned." Lieut. Plecher was sent with the fellows to 16th. Twenty of the drafters, all foreigners, were given to Capt. Heit. All the "Non Com's" that were transferred will hold the same rank as before, and it is very likely the 1st class privates will be promoted to Corporals and Sergeants. These promotions are not made by appointment any more, but by examination. This method will do away with the arguments between private and "Non Com's" as to who knows the most.

There is much enthusiasm in Athletics all over camp. Today there is a big game waged between Bat. E, Pgh. and Bat. C, Pheonxville, both of 107th Artillery. It promises to be equal to the Army and Navy games in every respect. The "rooters" for C. Bat. will be from eastern, Pa., and for E. Bat. Western Pa. The managers expect several thousand in attendance.

Last Sunday Secretary Baker visited Camp Hancock and Augusta to review the soldiers and inspect the camp. Every branch of Service in camp turned out in parade, and marched down town. Secretary Baker and Staff were standing on platform in middle of Broad St., Augusta where they all passed in review. It was a great sight. The most men and horses the writer ever saw. The Cavalry were perhaps the best trained and drew the greatest applause from the crowd.

Discipline is being strictly enforced. Every little detail is watched. Obedience is demanded. A refusal to obey command is met with severe punishment, but each man must be treated right. Any Non Commissioned officer who is partial can't hold his stripes. Inspection is becoming more strict. Anything found about a soldier's uniform or in the tents that is not in regulation form is marked against his record. With this kind of training Uncle Sam should be able to put a mighty army in the field.

Yours,
O V SNYDER.

Bat. E, 107 Field Art., Camp Hancock, Augusta, Ga.

Farmer's Institutes.

The Farmers' Institutes of Bedford County will be held at Fishertown Jan. 9—10, Mann's Choice, Jan. 11—12. Yellow Creek, Jan. 14, 1918.

J. Stuart Groupe and M. H. McCullum will be at all three of the institutes. Vera T. Struble will be at Fishertown. Geo. H. Rea will be at Fishertown and Mann's Choice and Theodore Wittman will be at Mann's Choice and Yellow Creek. These instructors are all men who have had practical experience of the actual work on the farm, and I urge every farmer to arrange their work so that they can attend all of the sessions.

W. F. BIDDLE,
County Chairman.

PATROTIC SERMON

A sermon preached by Dr. K. A. Bashara on the Second Liberty Loan last Sunday morning.

Our Tower

"Which of you, desiring to build a tower, doth not first set down and count the cost, whether he have wherewith to complete it. . . . This man began to build, and was not able to finish." Luke 14:28—30. The art of building is in constant and universal use. Nature has two hands; with the one she is ever deconstructing, with the other she is ever building. Various ways of building are familiar to us humans. We build houses, railroads, dams, reservoirs, ships, forts, hospitals, schools, churches and character. Building is one of the tests of our sagacity. In this parable Jesus contrasts the wise builder with the rash builder. Jesus definition of the wise builder is, that man who at the very inception of his enterprise sits down and counts the cost; and seeing that he has enough, he goes on and builds the tower complete. The rash builder, on the other hand, is that man who lays the foundation before counting the cost; and not having enough funds, he leaves the tower incomplete, only to become the laughing stock of his community.

I. An English statesman said lately that America has never in her history lost a single war. And as we think of the statement and look for the reason we cannot, in the light of this parable, but find it in the fact that all along the way of building our national tower we have always been careful to sit down first and count the cost. Our most substantial asset has always been the "Right." And, having the right on our side, our process of building has never been arrested for lack of funds. By God's help, we have ever been able to complete the work and finish the job.

1. The fathers of the constitution were long counting the cost before they raised the banner of rebellion.

Their chief capitol for the war was really no more than "a sense of right" eloquently expressed in the immortal slogans, "taxation without representation is tyranny," "give me liberty or give me death," and they got liberty and life.

2. Abraham Lincoln counted the cost before he took his determined stand for "A Union entirely free," as he sounded his emancipating motto: "a house that is divided against itself cannot stand." And he completed his work.

3. William McKinley was long counting the cost before the boys sailed to Cuba at the music of the telling slogan, "Remember the Maine!" as a protest against violence and all cruelty and success was perfect.

4. And here we are in these latter days called upon in God's providence to build another fort around the tower of our national life. For three long years are patient president was counting the cost from the legal, moral, national and international stand points, when six months ago he suddenly made his appearance before Congress to inform the nation through her representatives that we had a big job on hand, and that we had wherewith to finish it. What was he really counting on? He was principally counting on the character of the American Spirit which has always been ready, willing and able to make big sacrifices when ever the nation took a stand for honor, liberty and justice, backed by the might of the right.

An Honor to Major R. M. Culler.

The Secretary of the Military Medical Service of France proposed to confer upon Major R. M. Culler of the United States Medical Corps, son of Rev. M. L. Culler, D.D., former pastor of the Lutheran Church of Bedford, the decoration of the "Legion of Honor," for very efficient service as chief surgeon of the hospital for the French wounded soldiers, situated at Possy, France. But as is well known the Constitution of the United States forbids any officers or officials, military or civil to accept any honors or decorations from any foreign government without special permission. However its honor is the same.

Diehl—Knisely

Walter O. Diehl and Laura M. Knisely were united in marriage at Friend's Cove Reformed Parsonage, Wednesday, Oct. 17th, 1917. They took an auto trip to Ohio.

U. S. WON'T TAKE OVER CANNED
"FRUIT" SUPPLY

German Plotters Start Seizure Story, Which Government Flatly Denies.

SWINDLERS ARE BUSY.
Pose as Washington Agents to Obtain Housewives' Products, Is Warning.

German agents are credited by the government with the circulation of statements that the food administration intends to take canned and preserved vegetables and fruits away from individuals householders who have acquired a supply of such articles.

Incidentally, it is learned that the circulation of this utterly false and misleading statement has enabled swindlers to take quantities of food from house-holders upon the pretense that they are government agents. The food administration wants it known generally that no interference with food held by individuals for family consumption has ever been contemplated and that there are no agents of the administration or of any other branch of the government who have any right to investigate the domestic food supplies of individuals. "You cannot make this statement too strong," said an officer of the food administration today.

If persons are being swindled by pretended agents, they should take prompt steps to bring the offenders to justice.

The food administration has been encouraging all housewives to can and preserve as much food material as possible, both for home consumption and for sale, and those who have responded to these urgings are entitled to all they have acquired, and will be protected by the government.

The food administration has received information from nearly every state that householders have been informed that all surplus food supplies, and especially canned and preserved vegetables and fruits, would be taken from them by the government.

Only a deliberate effort to cause alarm and discontent could account for the circulation of this falsehood, and therefore its origin is attributed to German propagandists.

MRS. MARY A. WHITCOMB

Mrs. Mary A. Whitcomb, widow of the late H. R. Whitcomb, died at the home of Mrs. C. L. Russell in West Swanzy, N. H., Oct. 11, after a very brief illness with acute indigestion. Her age was 61 years, 6 mo's and 23 days.

Mrs. Whitcomb was born in Surry and spent her girlhood there. After her marriage to Mr. Whitcomb they lived for nearly a quarter of a century in Pennsylvania, after which they moved to West Swanzy, where Mrs. Whitcomb had resided for seven or eight years. Recently she went to Brookline, this state, and was making her home there, being on a visit to Mrs. Russell when her death occurred.

She is survived by one son and one daughter, John H. Whitcomb and Miss Edna Caroline Whitcomb, both of Brookline. The funeral was held at the Baptist church in West Swanzy Saturday, Oct. 13 and the interment was in Swanzy Center.—New Hampshire Sentinel

A vote for S. F. Campbell is a vote to continue the liquor force in the Poor House. A vote for Joseph Stayer is a vote for a fighter against the traffic and a vote to save the taxpayers money in the conduct of the Alms House, $18,000 requisition under a republican majority board contrasted with $14,000 under a Democratic and Washington board is quite sufficient for continuing Joseph Stayer as a Director. $18,000 is not all Harry C. James wants. He regrets he didn't call for more. Borrowed $6,000 last year over and above $14,000 requisition. She is mounting up some. Put Sam. Campbell in and it will go higher, and the millage will grow.

Beisel—Deaner.

A quiet but pretty wedding was solemnized in Trinity Lutheran Church last Friday morning at ten o'clock when Mr. Dewey I. Beisel of Sidman, Pa., and Miss Ada M. Deaner of Schellsburg, Pa., were united in marriage by the Rev. C. R. A. Lenbach, pastor of the Church. The happy young couple were attended by Mr. Harry Beisel a brother of the groom, and Miss Mary Reighard attended the bride. The impressive ring ceremony was used. Mr. and Mrs. Beisel left later in the day on an extended wedding tour the best wishes of a host of friends accompanying them.

GREAT MUSICAL EVENT

Queen's Hall Concert Organist Here. Gatty Sellars, the world's famed English organist of the Queen's Hall, London, England, concerts and the Crystal Palace Musical Festival, is to play here on Thursday, Nov. 8th at St. John's Reformed Church.

Cathedral Chimes from the Queen's Hall, London, will be used with the organ. Items include the British Patrol, representing the approach, passing by and the gradual disappearance of a British patrol, and the Storm at Sea. In the patrol the tramp of soldiers, the drums, trumpets and military effects are clearly portrayed. The world's press are unanimous in declaring this organist to be pre-eminent in such descriptive music as the Storm, in which rain, wind, thunder and lightning effects are obtained. One English paper states that Mr. Sellars in this piece obtains the most remarkable effects ever heard on an organ. He completed a World's Record of 500 recitals, given in direct succession on the largest organs of Canada and the United States, on the former tour. The largest audiences in the history of many of the largest cities visited have assembled. Comment is frequently made on the ease with which Mr. Sellars adapts himself to strange instruments, at times he never sees the organ until commencing his recital. He usually plays entirely from memory, sometimes extemporizing on themes requested by his audience.

Nave—Sollenberger

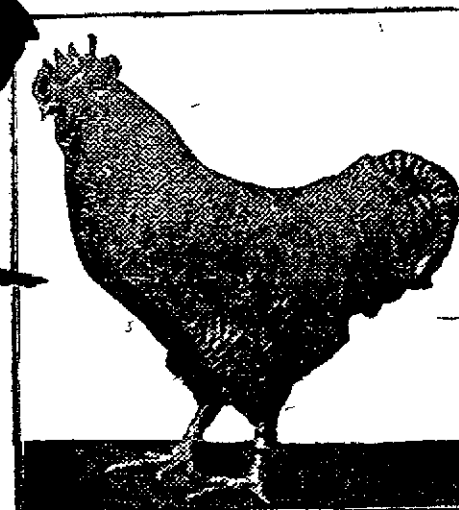

Lewis E. Nave and Ella B. Sollenberger were united in marriage Thursday, Oct. 18th, at the home of Joe Grant Diehl. It was a beautiful home wedding. The ring ceremony was used. They took an auto trip to Ohio.

FARM POULTRY

One Rooster to Fifteen Hens Is About Right With Larger Breeds, Such as Plymouth Rock.

Birds of the general-purpose class such as the Plymouth Rocks, Wyandottes, Rhode Island Reds, Orpingtons, etc., usually require one male to 15 females, depending upon the vigor of the male. Among birds of lighter breeds, such as Leghorns, Anconas, Campines, Hamburgs, etc., one male is sufficient for a flock of 20 females. About ten days should be allowed for the fertilization of the flock by the male. However, in small flocks, such as four or five females, only four or five days is needed.

GOOD MEDICINE FOR FOWLS

On Account of High Price of Permanent of Potash Substitute Is Sought by Poultry Men.

(Storrs Experiment Station) Many poultry men have been using permanganate of potash to prevent the spread of colds and other catarrhal diseases. During the past two years this product has risen in price from 50 cents to $2.50 to $3 per pound; thus it is not surprising that a good substitute is being looked for.

One authority suggests the use of bluestone or copper sulphate, which can be used as follows: Dissolve four ounces of the bluestone in a quart of water, thus to be known as a stock solution. Add one ounce of this solution to each gallon of the drinking water. This can perhaps be well used for a short period, but should not be too long continued.

Furthermore, one ought to use enameled or earthenware vessels, as the copper sulphate solution may produce undesirable chemical changes when used in galvanized pans.

GUINEA FOWL IS PROFITABLE

Large Flocks Now Being Established Where Guineas Are Being Raised for Meat Purposes.

Raising guinea fowls in Kansas is profitable, according to N. L. Harris, superintendent of the Kansas State Agricultural college poultry farm.

"Large flocks are now being established where guineas are raised for meat purposes," said Mr. Harris. "The eggs are small and consequently are of little value commercially."

"Guinea fowls are easy to raise. They are noisy and good fighters and are not subject to the attacks of hawks."

"There is a good market for guinea fowls. The meat of the young guineas resembles that of prairie chickens and wild ducks. The clubs and stylish cafes use the guineas as a substitute for ducks, prairie chickens, quail, and other game which the laws make it impossible for them to secure."

IMPORTANT EGGS BE TURNED

Comparatively Small Hens Have Trouble in Turning Goose Eggs—Crippled Goslings Result.

Sometimes it is necessary to set goose eggs under comparatively small hens, that have not the strength to turn the large eggs. In setting eggs under a hen, mark them on one side, so that you can tell whether or not the hen is turning them.

If she does not turn the eggs, the goslings will be crippled, unless the eggs are turned by hand.

Hatching Duck Eggs.

In hatching duck eggs in an incubator give them more ventilation and moisture, less cooling and a lower temperature the first week than hen's eggs. The heat must never get above 103 degrees.

Run for Little Chicks.

Give the little chicks a run outdoors on the ground every day when the weather is suitable.

Benefits of Whitewash.

Whitewash your poultry house. It keeps the place clean and acts as a disinfectant.

WON BY THE CLOCK

By C. B. LEWIS.

Clip—slide—fall!

That was May Palmer and she had fallen on the icy pavement on hands and knees.

"Hello! Got a fall, have you?"

That was Joseph Farlow, a partner in a woolen house downtown.

"Yes, I've had a fall," replied Miss May as she looked up.

"Come, now, but I shall help you up," he said as he extended his arm. "There you are, but you can't take a step alone. Do you live anywhere about here?"

"Right there," said Miss May as she pointed to the steps.

"Oh, that is easy. I shall put an arm around your shoulder and you lean on me, and we go up the steps as safely as you walk a hall floor. Here we are, and I'll ring the bell for you. Good evening, madam. I've got to run for it or I shall be two minutes late at the store. See you again sometime, perhaps."

Miss May entered the house to play baby for a while, and when she came to explain the accident to her father and mother the father replied with a laugh:

"Say, I'll bet you any money that man was Joe Farlow. He passes along the street twice every day except Sunday. They call him the 'Human Clock,' because he is always on time. If he is one minute late at the store there is almost a panic. Yes, it must have been Joe who helped you up, and you had better look out a little. Joe is a nice-looking fellow, and he is making more money than any young man I can mention. I shouldn't object to having him for a son-in-law."

"Well, he didn't laugh at me, and that was good of him," replied Miss May as she went to the medicine chest to find the bottle of arnica.

Out of curiosity, of course, she posted herself at a window about the time she figured Mr. Joseph Farlow would be due to come along next evening.

Mr. Farlow came along. He was on time to the second. There was a smile on his face, as he passed the house, but he didn't turn his head to see if anybody was at the window. He knew there was, and that he did not even give a glance was a mark in favor of Mr. Joseph Farlow.

Some days passed and Miss May started in her car one day to go to her dressmaker's. When the vehicle had traversed several blocks, some heavy trucks got the chauffeur in a pocket and he lost his head for a moment. He ran the machine into a grocery store standing at the curb, and there was a crash and a scream. Joseph Farlow was passing at that moment. He had gone to the grocery store on a business errand, and he had given himself just so many seconds to get back to his woolens. It is doubtful if the trumpet of an elephant or the roar of a lion would have made him halt, but the scream Miss May gave stopped him dead in his tracks. He saw her trying to open the door of the auto, and in three jumps he had the door open and was helping her out saying:

"It's your again, is it? Well, your chauffeur is not up to the mark. You will have to walk the rest of the way. No ice this time, and you won't get a fall. By-by. I'm due at the store."

And off went Mr. Joseph Farlow, and more than one pedestrian got a dig from his elbows to make up for lost time. Maybe it was a month later when Mr. Palmer, father of May, sat in his office one afternoon and young Mr. Farlow burst in exclaiming:

"Say, Mr. Palmer, I know you by sight and by name, though we never shook hands. You can ask any business man about me. I just called to say that I want the privilege of calling on your daughter. It has happened that I met her on two occasions, but we have not exchanged names. I am a very busy man, but I will try and spare ten or fifteen minutes some evening to call and make her acquaintance."

It was a serious matter, but Mr. Palmer could not help smiling over it. He replied that Mr. Farlow might call any evening and remain 15 minutes or three hours if he would. If Miss May happened not to be at home they could talk over the state of the market and smoke a good cigar together. Mr. Farlow thanked him and rushed out so impetuously that he upset an employee who was coming in.

In about a week Mr. Farlow called. He didn't look at his watch as he sat down to see if he could spare 14 or 15 minutes, but he was soon so interested that almost half an hour glided away.

Miss May did not know whether she liked Mr. Farlow or not, even after he had made half a dozen calls, but he kept calling so many times that she finally decided he was the right man. She answered that way to him, when he came to the point one evening, and she was not a bit astonished when he added:

"Well, that is over and I am a very happy man; also a very busy one. I shall probably be detained at the store until midnight."

And six months after marriage, when May was asked about the strange ways of her husband, she replied:

"Oh, that is all right. When I asked him for ten dollars this morning to buy a lot of little things, he threw me a hundred-dollar bill and said:

"I am two minutes late this morning. Take the bill and keep the change." (Copyright, 1917, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

FARM POULTRY

ECONOMICAL FEED FOR HENS

Simple Ration, Consisting of Corn and Protein Supplement Favored by Ohio Station.

That a simple ration consisting of corn and a protein supplement is more economical under usual market conditions than a mixture of several different feeds for laying hens is shown by feeding tests at the Ohio experiment station.

Corn and meat scrap have given practically as good returns as a ration of corn, wheat, oats, bran, middlings, oilmeal and meat scrap. The hens fed the simple ration had access to self-feeding hoppers containing a dry mash made of eight parts of ground corn and five parts of meat scrap analyzing 50 per cent protein. They received twice as much corn, fed in equal portions in the litter twice daily, as they consumed of the mash, and also had grit and oyster shells.

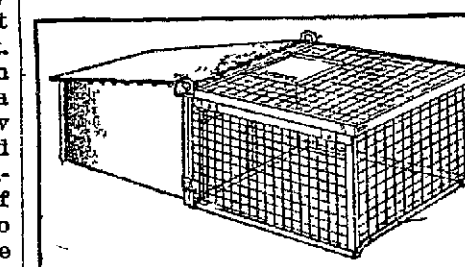

The hens fed the variety ration laid more eggs, but not enough more to pay for the extra cost of their feed. Tankage and skim milk, as well as meat scrap, are recommended to be fed with corn for laying hens.

YARD FOR LITTLE CHICKENS

Wire Covered Device, Attached to Brooding Coop, Will Be Found Quite Convenient.

For the person who hatches and broods little chickens in the good old-fashioned way, with Biddy to furnish the heat, this little covered wire yard to be attached to a brooding coop should prove a mighty handy arrangement. It will keep the little fellows from wandering far away from mother until they are large enough to know enough to come in out of the rain when one of those frequent showers blows up; and this wandering, while still young and foolish, is cause for the death of a goodly percentage of early hatched chicks, and is incidentally cause for a whole heap of trouble running about by the good housewife who looks after most of the chickens on our farms.

This pen consists of four rectangular frames, or woven wire walls. The two side and end frames are hinged to the top frame so that they can be folded under or into it when not in use, or when being shipped to the buyer; thus they can be folded into a small space for shipment or for storing from one brooding season to the next. When placed in front of a brooding coop, this contrivance gives the chicks a little grassy range, and yet keeps them within sound of the coaxing call of the old hen. Also, the coop can be opened so as to allow the hen to have the same range as the chicks, and a little exercise is a mighty good thing for her as well as for the chicks. Incidentally, this little pen keeps rats and other prowling, murdering varmints away from the chicks.

PACKING EGGS FOR HATCHING

Good Plan to Use Strong Basket Lined With Excelsior—Aim to Prevent Any Jarring.

A good way to pack eggs for hatching is in a strong basket. The basket should be lined with excelsior or other spring material which will hold its position, about an inch thick, then each egg should be wrapped with excelsior, half an inch thick, and carefully nestled in the basket until all the eggs are in; then they should be covered over with an inch of excelsior and a cloth cover held on by tacks pushed into the rim of the basket, or sewed down by passing heavy string through the cloth and through the basket beneath the rim.

Such a package is strong and does not jar the eggs enough to hurt them, even when quite roughly handled. A basket with a strong, upright handle should be used, so that other things cannot be piled on the basket and crush it.

COCKERELS TO HEAD FLOCKS

Wide Field for Farmer Who Wishes to Specialize in This Business—Eggs Are in Demand.

Each year many farms start in the purebred poultry business, and in time are wanting to purchase eggs to raise cockerels to head their flocks for another year.

So there is a wide field open for the farmer who wishes to specialize in this kind of business.

Coops for Young Poults.

Early hatched poults (little turkeys) should have large, roomy coops where, with their mother, they can exercise indoors when the weather is bad and take advantage of good weather to get out on the ground.

A Letter From Washington

The Food Administrator Writes Us:

"The use of baking powder breads made of corn and other coarse flours instead of patent wheat flour is recommended by the Conservation Division of the Food Administration. The wheat needed for export is thus conserved, and at the same time healthful food for our own people is provided. The circulation of recipes providing for these uses would be of assistance in carrying out our plans."

The following recipes for Corn Bread and Rye Rolls save wheat flour and make attractive and wholesome food for every day when made with

ROYAL BAKING POWDER

CORN BREAD

1 1/2 cups corn meal
1/2 cup flour
4 level teaspoons Royal Baking Powder
1 tablespoon sugar
1 teaspoon salt
1 1/2 cups milk
2 tablespoons shortening

Mix thoroughly dry ingredients, add milk and melted shortening. Beat well, pour into well greased pan and bake in hot oven about 25 minutes.

Get red, white and blue booklet "Best War Time Recipes" containing additional similar recipes free on request. Address Royal Baking Powder Company, Dept. H, 135 William Street, New York.

RYE ROLLS

2 cups rye flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
3 level teaspoons Royal Baking Powder
3/4 cup milk
1/2 tablespoon shortening

Sift dry ingredients together, add milk and melted shortening. Knead on floured board, shape into rolls. Put into greased pans and allow to stand in warm place 20 to 25 minutes. Bake in moderate oven 25 to 30 minutes.

The German Aims

II. What are we up against? Is our national life in danger? In other words, what is Germany aiming at, and what does she expect to accomplish by this war?

The German aims are radical every way. There system of "Kultur" involves political, moral and educational issues to be imposed upon the world that would stagger the imagination. But the most dangerous one is the religious change they contemplate. It is no less than doing away with the Christian Bible, with Jehovah, and with the Hebrew Messiah, even Jesus Christ our Savior. Having reduced the world to a state of servitude, they intend to enforce upon the world a German bible proclaiming a German god and a German Christ possessing the attributes and characteristics of the German soldier in Belgium and France.

Let us stop for a moment and see what these people have been advocating and teaching for the last fifty years. I read from "Gems of German Thought."

Then he gave several quotations from several German authors such as the following:

1. "Germany is the future of humanity."
2. "The German soul is the world soul, God and Germany belong to one another."
3. "As was Israel among the heathen so is Germany among the modern nations—the pious heart of Europe."
4. "Friedrich Nietzsche was but the last of the singers and sers who, coming down from the height of heaven, brought to us tidings that there should be born from us the son of God, whom in his language he called the superman."
5. "Let us bravely organize great forced migrations of the inferior peoples. Posterity will be grateful to us. We must coerce them. This is one of the tasks of war: the means must be superiority of armed force. Superficially such forced migrations and the penning up of inconvenient peoples in narrow 'reserves,' may appear hard; but it is the only solution of the race question that is worthy of humanity. Thus alone can the over-population of the earth be controlled, the efficient peoples must secure themselves elbow-room by means of war, and the inefficient must be hemmed in, and at last driven into 'reserves' where they have no room to grow—and where, discouraged and rendered indifferent to the future by the spectacle of the superior energy of their conquerors they may crawl slowly towards the peaceful death of weary and hopeless senility."

6. "In the Great German Confederation which will comprise most of Europe the Germans, being alone entitled to exercise political rights to serve in the Army and Navy and to acquire landed property, will recover the feeling they had in the Middle Ages of being a people of masters. They will gladly tolerate the foreigners living among them to whom inferior manual services will be entrusted."

7. "The war must last until we have forced disarmament upon our enemies. There is a nursery rhyme which runs thus:—

Knife and scissors, fork and candle
Little children must not handle.
Since the nemy States behave so childishly as to misuse their arms they must be placed under tutelage. Moreover, our enemies have acted so dishonorably that it is only just that rights of citizenship should be denied them. When they can no longer bear arms they cannot make any new disturbances."

III. Seeing what the aims and purposes of our enemies are shall we not say that nothing short of complete victory will save us? This requires men and money, and we are in a position to give both effectively, provided the whole nation stand united and determined to render a service of cooperation under wise leadership until victory hoped for shall become victory realized.

1. As for wise leadership we have at the helm the wisest ruler on earth. President Wilson is fully recognized now in Europe as the man of the hour, the righteous spokesman of humanity. When hard international problems face the statesmen of England, France or Russia, with mutual consent they say, "Leave it to Woodrow! Let us at least have as much confidence in his integrity and patriotism as foreign nations have, tho he be a native prophet."

2. With full confidence in us our man at the helm has turned to our allies and said, "To the last man, to the last dollar the whole force of the United States is at your service." They take him at his promise. Then he turns around and says to us, "Come on now, and prove yourselves worthy of the world's trust and confidence by with your boys and with your money! Your boys to bring about peace and defend the honor of America, and your money to keep those boys well fed, well clothed, well equipped to the highest maximum of efficiency. We have already responded to the first part of the call. Our boys are at the front. Over one hundred thousand brave young Americans are facing the enemy. They are there because they feel sure You Will Not Fail Them. And, God willing, we will not!"

Now it is time to respond to the second part of the appeal; and it involves no loss on our part. The proposition is simply to loan your money and make the best and safest investment on earth. If you loan it willingly at the right time, then besides helping your government and her allies to win the war and restore peace to the world, you will be getting four per cent interest while you hold your bonds, with the door open before you to sell them any time you have to. But if you do not loan your money at the proper time, you will be exposing your dear boys to cold and hunger and defeat, you will be submitting this honorable flag to disgrace, and in the end, at the wrong time you may have to give your money away at probably four hundred per cent loss. Which of the two will you prefer? Make answer in the number of bonds you buy. Our army and navy have already won in Europe the reputation of "Do it now!" Let us live up to it at home! Do it now!

3. A word about these boys, God bless them! They have volunteered to give their lives in the cause, we all know that. But they have gone further, to set the example of supreme patriotism for you and for me. They have already subscribed out of their small wages to the Liberty Loan over $800,000, and are aiming at a full million. The Germans call our army, "The army that has no spirit. No spirit! This is the finest spirit in the world. Are you proud of them? Let them be proud of you. Up with your money and buy the Liberty Bonds without saying a word about it. Up with your money, and let the future generation say. The world was in a deadlock and America broke that deadlock in favor of Truth, Liberty and Righteousness.

The die is cast. The war is on. The boys are out to fight it. America's prestige hangs in the balance. Shall we pull down from the wall of the Hall of Fame and Honor the pictures of Washington and Lincoln; or shall we rather add the picture of another American hero, and promote all three to a higher floor in the building? We have counted the cost; and that's what we shall do. We can afford to do no other. The world is looking toward us for deliverance; and the Liberty Bell shall be heard the world over. Abraham Lincoln gripped the American nation for all time when he said that government of the people, by the people, and for the people shall not perish from the earth. And, God willing that grip shall not loosen!

READ WHAT FATHER SAYS

In writing the praises of The Modern Remedy, Mr. Homer Robinson of Hollidaysburg, Pa., says:

"My little girl of five years old was afflicted with a lump on the under part of her jaw, or on the gland in the neck, about the size of a hickory nut

It becomes very hard and would cause the child such intense pain that she could not eat without crying out with agony. Four or five applications of 20th CENTURY LINIMENT removed the enlargement and all trouble has now disappeared.

"My son of 12 years had a severe sore throat one night and could scarcely speak. I applied 20th CENTURY LINIMENT to his throat in a thorough manner, wrapped some cloth around his neck and put him to bed. When he awoke in the morning I was surprised and delighted to find his sore throat gone and the boy as well as ever.

"My wife is now using this wonderful remedy on a large goitre with very satisfying results.

"I consider this in truth a Twentieth Century preparation and would not be without it in my home for many times its cost."

RHEUMATISM ARRESTED

Many people suffer with lame muscles and stiffened joints because blood impurities have invaded the system and caused rheumatism.

To arrest rheumatism it is quite as important to improve your general health as to purify your blood, and the cod liver oil in Scott's Emulsion is nature's great blood-maker, while its medicinal nourishment strengthens the organs to expel the impurities and upbuild your strength. Try it.

Scott & Bowne, Bloomfield, N. J.

Miss Mary E. Wise, 147 Spring St., Bedford, says: "I suffered greatly from backaches and distressing pains through my kidneys. I couldn't stoop or lift anything without great pain and I also had severe headaches and dizzy spells. Doan's Kidney Pills, procured at Heckerman's Drug Store, removed the backaches and pains in my kidneys and the headaches and dizzy spells left. The action of my kidneys also became regulated. I am pleased to have you use my recommendation for Doan's Kidney Pills at any time you wish."

AUDITOR'S NOTICE.

BOAT TORPEDUED

Sailor Killed and Five Others Injured

ATTACKED BY A SUBMARINE

Destroyer Makes Port in Safety Although Damaged—U-Boat Escapes Without Showing Herself.

An American destroyer on patrol duty in the war zone was torpedoed by an enemy submarine and had one man killed and five wounded. She managed to make port in spite of severe damage.

Vice Admiral Sims cabled a brief report of the incident to the navy department. He gave few details, but it is assumed there was no fight and that the U-boat made good her escape after launching a torpedo without showing herself.

Osgood Kelly Ingram, gunner's mate, was the man killed. His next of kin is his mother, Betty Ingram, 504 Third street, Pratt City, Ala. Ingram was blown overboard and his body was not recovered.

The wounded, none of whom was seriously injured, are: Herman Henry Cankratz, gunner's mate, second-class, next of kin, brother, Robert William Cankratz, St. Louis; William Edward Merritt, seaman, next of kin, mother, Ellen Merritt, New York; Frank William Kruse, fireman, first-class, next of kin, wife, Margaret Kruse, Toledo, O.; Patrick Rutledge, oiler, next of kin, wife, Noima Rutledge, New York; William Seimer, fireman, second-class, next of kin, father, Henry Seimer, Dundas, Minn.

No details of the encounter were made public. The name of the ship and the exact location of the attack are withheld, but the casualties were announced immediately upon receipt of a message from Vice Admiral Sims, in accordance with the pledge of Secretary Daniels to make public promptly all casualties in the fleet abroad.

The large number of fire-room men on the ship would indicate that it was hit amidships. Yet, if it was torpedoed, naval officials believe it could so promptly.

The theory of the attack is that the vessel was hit forward or well aft and did little damage.

It was by the knowledge of the method pursued upon sighting a submarine or a torpedo is to turn the ship either directly toward or directly away from the line of attack so as to present the smallest possible target.

The principal comment heard among naval officers when the news of the attack was made public was that it demonstrated the remarkable efficiency of our patrol squadrons. It is an open secret that scores, if not hundreds of our vessels have been patrolling the most thickly infested submarine lanes for weeks and months. This is the first report of a hit, scored by the enemy.

THE WAR

Nine neutral merchant ships were sunk on Wednesday in the North sea off the Shetland islands, with two British destroyers convoying them, by two German raiders, it is announced. All on board the destroyers, 135 men in all, were lost, and most of those on the merchant ships, which were on the way from Norway to England. About 100 men were saved. The casualties on the merchant vessels were 150.

Berlin reports there were thirteen vessels in the fleet, all of which were sunk except one. This is denied by the British admiralty, which says three vessels escaped. A report from Christiania states twelve vessels were sunk; of which five were Norwegian, aggregating 3,400 tons, two Danish, two Swedish, one Belgian and two British.

The attack was made by fast and heavily armed cruisers, which after doing their work escaped before the arrival of the British patrol, which came promptly. No effort was made by the Germans to rescue the men on the British destroyers which were sunk.

Eleven Zeppelins took part in the raid on England Tuesday night. They killed twenty-seven persons and injured fifty-three, but they paid a heavy price for their raid. Fate was close upon them when they turned east toward the coast of France, and they had hardly reached the mainland before an innumerable flock of French airplanes, warned from England, rose to meet them.

In a few minutes the great fleet of Zeppelins was scattered all over France, each one of the huge craft with a swarm of hornetlike aeros buzzing about it, and one after another, until four of them were brought to earth in flames.

The German forces have captured Moon island, according to the official Berlin statement. The Germans have taken 10,000 prisoners and 50 guns on Oesel island.

The Russian naval forces in the Gulf of Riga have been trapped by the Germans, according to announcement.

A naval battle has occurred in the Gulf of Riga between Russian and German battleships, the Petrograd office announces. The Russian battleship Slava was sunk.

The Slava sank as the result of being hit several times beneath the water line. Nearly all the members of the crew were saved by Russian torpedo boats.

The Russian provisional government has definitely determined to move to Moscow in the very near future.

The newspapers publish an official announcement that the evacuation of the fortified port of Revel, on the Baltic, at the entrance to the Gulf of Finland, has begun.

The schools at Revel have been closed. The inhabitants of the city are being sent to the interior of Russia.

Two German torpedo boats were sunk in the mine fields in Moon sound, the war office announces.

A mutiny among German sailors at the Belgian port of Ostend, who refused to go on board submarines, is reported by the Belgisch Dagblad of Amsterdam. The newspaper says an officer was thrown into the sea and that thirty mutineers were removed in handcuffs to Brussels.

Official diplomatic dispatches report mutinies in the Austrian navy and clashes between Austrian and German submarine crews at Pola, in which officers on both sides have been killed and which resulted in a decision to change the base of the German flotilla.

The Austrian crews are said to have revolted under ill treatment of officers and bad food, while the clash with the German submarine crews was caused by the overbearing conduct of the latter.

SHIP SINKS IN FIVE MINUTES

One Hundred and Sixty-Seven Are Saved Although Big Vessel Goes Down Like Plummets.

Sixty-seven lives were lost when a German submarine torpedoed the United States army transport Antilles. Of this number sixteen were soldiers. Most of the remainder were foreigners of the crew. Vice Admiral Sims sent the first reports of the disaster.

The Antilles was torpedoed while returning to this country from France. She was under convoy at the time, but neither the torpedo which sent her to the bottom, nor the destroying submarine was sighted. The men had no chance for their lives. Struck abreast the engine room bulkhead, the Antilles sank like a plummet, going down in five minutes.

There were about 237 aboard her, and there was little or no chance to take to the boats. Of those aboard, 167 were saved, many being reported to have been fished from the waters by vessels of the convoy. The death list includes three navy officers, four sailors and 16 soldiers. The rest of the victims were members of the merchant crew.

The Sims dispatch reached the bureau of communication at the navy department at a time when the president and his cabinet were in session and discussing it, it is stated, the report of Admiral Mayo as to the real situation abroad.

Over a private telephone into the cabinet room the news was transmitted to Secretary Daniels. He and Secretary of War Baker immediately left the White House and hurried across the street to the State, War and Navy building. They went together to Mr. Baker's office and within a few minutes a messenger was sent to bring the committee of public information's representative at the war department.

Secretary Daniels' Statement.

Secretary Daniels authorized the following statement:

"The department is in receipt of a dispatch from Vice Admiral Sims which states that the steamship Antilles, an army transport, was torpedoed on Oct. 17, while returning to this country from foreign service. This vessel was under convoy of American patrol vessels at the time."

"The torpedo which struck the Antilles was not seen, nor was the submarine which fired it. The torpedo hit abreast of the engine room bulkhead, and the ship sank within five minutes. One hundred and sixty-seven persons of about 237 on board the Antilles were saved. About 70 men are missing."

"All the naval officers and officers of the army who were on board the ship at the time were saved, as were the officers of the ship, with the exception of the following: Walker, third engineer officer; Boyle, junior engineer officer, and O'Rourke, junior engineer officer."

"The following enlisted naval personnel were lost: E. L. Kinzy, seaman, second class, next of kin, Thomas M. Kinzy, father, Water Valley, Miss.; J. W. Hunt, seaman, second class, next of kin, Isaac Hunt, father, Mountain Grove, Mo.; C. L. Ausburn, radio electrician, first class, next of kin, P. Ausburn, brother, New Orleans, and H. F. Watson, radio electrician, third class, next of kin, Mrs. W. L. Seger, mother, Rutland, Mass."

"There were about 23 of the army enlisted personnel on board, of whom 17 were saved. The names of the missing army enlisted personnel and of the merchant crew of the ship cannot be given until the muster roll in France of those on board has been consulted. As soon as the department is in receipt of further details concerning the casualties, they will be made public immediately."

"Shot in Dark."

In war department circles it was stated unofficially that individual important American officers were on board the ill-fated Antilles, returning from missions of observation abroad. This may account for the fact that she was "picked out" by the submarine, but general opinion is that the U-boat "took a shot in the dark," trusting to luck to "bag" one American ship and not daring to show herself because of the convoy.

That the loss of life was not heavier considering the almost immediate sinking of the Antilles is declared by experts to be due solely to the fact that she was in a fleet of ships and that the fast convoying destroyers could immediately rush to the rescue and pick up many of the men from the water.

In cases of such attacks it is the navy policy for the other ships under convoy to scatter as widely as possible, steering zigzag in order to save themselves. The policy has been established as the only safe one to pursue, despite the apparent brutality of leaving men to drown. It is based on the principle that it is better to let one crew drown than to cost the possible destruction of war ships and the loss of both crews.

FEAST OR FAST?

Little Talks on Health and Hygiene
by Samuel G. Dixon, M. D. LL. D.
Commissioner of Health

In civilized life men find it impossible to pay proper attention to their meals. They cannot eat regularly and have no time to eat slowly, and they apparently will not eat what they have learned by precept and experience is fitting for those who do work indoors that requires intense mental application. Failing to follow the laws of health over a period of time, they begin to feel inert mentally and physically; their work becomes a burden; eyesight loses its acuteness, while the natural white of the eye is lost and it becomes congested, showing sometimes a yellow tinge; the appetite begins to fail; natural sleep is broken up and interrupted, and when awakening comes, the mind is puzzled by confused ideas.

When these symptoms are recognized, men of experience know it is because the food taken has been in excess of the demands of the body.

Such a man was a laboratory associate of mine years ago. Occasionally he would salute me in the morning and say, "What do you prescribe, doctor, a feast or a fast?" He meant that he felt he had been neglecting all outdoor exercise for a long time and had not at all neglected taking heavy and frequent meals, until now his system was out of balance and something had to be done to restore balance. Query—should he fast himself back to health, or should he emulate the old Romans and start with a feast?

Most people are familiar with the ancient Roman feast, whose features we would describe nowadays more accurately with the name of orgy or debauch. These feasts always made them sick and the physical reaction would be such that no food was taken into the system for some time afterward. So that the same result of a fast was arrived at by a different route. My associate, being a man of humorous viewpoint, was just accentuating this condition.

When I asked him why he thought of the more roundabout way of the Romans, he replied that you got some hilarity with it. "You get more out of treating yourself by debauch, than drugs," he said, and that is the way a good many people look at it, unfortunately.

The Roman custom is recognized historically as having continued long afterward in other races, and perhaps it is still surviving today, in principle at least, among individuals here and there.

Still, the mass of our people have a more sensible view. It is known that a fast will relieve nature, while she is coping with the task of overcoming extra burdens that have been laid upon the system. The debauch, which is generally what high-livers make of their "feast," on the contrary, is seen generally as something that overloads the system and adds to nature's burden, even though it mentally stimulates the subject, sometimes to the point where he might be guilty of crime. And there is the hilarity—a thing to be remembered and tempt the subject to try the same remedy the next time.

The alcohol that goes with over-indulgent living makes an over-demand for water upon the tissues and gradually changes their physical condition and interferes with their physiological action. The result is that permanent harm is done. Each time an excess of alcohol is indulged in there is left a permanent imprint upon the digestive system that will never be erased. Each time this imprint will become deeper until the subject is indelibly marked as an alcoholic. Fortunately we all know the effects of alcohol today and avoid it, excepting in its proper place and then use it only in moderation.

LESSON FOR OCTOBER 28

EZRA RETURNING FROM BABYLON.

LESSON TEXT—Ezra 8:15-26.
GOLDEN TEXT—The hand of our God is upon all them for good that seek him.—Ezra 8:22.

An interval of some fifty years intervenes between the dedication of the temple and the journey of Ezra to Palestine. Some stirring events in the world occurred in this time which greatly helped the Jews. It was during this time that the episode of Esther's being made queen and the elevation of Mordecai occurred, which favorably disposed the Persian government toward the Jews. The time was auspicious for Ezra to make his request unto Artaxerxes. The supreme aim of Ezra was the restoration of the true worship of Jehovah, for it is evident that the work done by Zerubbabel had largely failed of its aim. In order that Ezra might be an efficient instrument in the hands of God for the accomplishment of this purpose, he "prepared his heart to seek the law of the Lord and to do it, and to teach in Israel the statutes and judgments" (7:10). There are three stages in the experience of every true teacher. First: to seek the law of the Lord. Second: to do it. Third: to teach it to others. The last is impossible without the first two.

The royal commission granted to Ezra embraced—

(1) The return of all whose free will prompted them to do so (7:13).

(2) Ezra's being given magisterial authority over the district "beyond the river" (7:25, 26).

(3) Exemption from taxation to the Levites (7:24).

(4) Conveyance of offerings from the king and his officers (7:15, 19).

I. Register of Ezra's Companions (1:14). Doubtless this is a representative list of those who joined Ezra. There is clear implication that the twelve tribes are represented among those who returned. (See 2:70; 6:18, 17.)

II. Ezra Sends to Iddo for Ministers for the Temple Service (vv. 15-20). Before the journey to Palestine was actually begun, Ezra gathered about him his companions who were to accompany him, to see whether they were representative. In this review he discovered that none of the sons of Levi were in the company. So he sent chief men to Iddo, who was doubtless the president of the school of the Levites, for ministers for God's house. In response to this appeal, 38 Levites and 220 Nethinims joined him.

III. Ezra Seeking the Guidance of the Lord (vv. 21-23). The journey was full of deadly perils. It lay through a region invested with Bedouin marauders. Ezra, fully conscious of these, and ashamed to ask help of the king, proclaimed a fast, in which in deep humiliation they sought the guidance and protection of God. This is a fine illustration of the independence, and yet dependence, of the men who fully trust God. His chief concern was for the honor of God's name. He had so confidently and repeatedly spoken to the king of the divine sufficiency that now to have asked for a guard of soldiers would cause him to blush with shame. In this critical hour they committed themselves to the care of Him who keepeth Israel. We should begin every journey, every undertaking, every new piece of work, every new day by seeking the direction of God. No friendship or business interest ever reaches its best unless God's hand be in it and upon it. We should not go anywhere, engage in any business, or have any friendship upon which we may not ask God's blessing and aid. They sought this for themselves, for their children, and all their substance. They knew that as soon as they made God first his blessing would be upon them, and as soon as they forsook him his power would be withdrawn and his wrath would be upon them.

IV. The Treasure Committed to Twelve Priests (vv. 24-30). Combined with their faith in God, we find practical business sense. Honest, trustworthy, good men were selected (v. 28). To such only should be entrusted the Lord's money—gifts offered freely to the Lord by his people. Again, the money was carefully counted and weighed, and the amount set down. The men were held accountable at the end of the journey for everything intrusted to them. Men ought to be held to strict account for everything intrusted to them, to the very last cent. The men to whom this was intrusted were holy; the gifts were God's; they did not belong to any man; they were charged with the obligation to deliver these gifts before the chief priests.

V. The Safe Arrival at Jerusalem (vv. 31-38). The journey lasted four months. They carried with them millions of dollars' worth of treasure, through a region infested with marauding Bedouins, yet God delivered them from their hands. At the end of the journey they testified to the faithfulness of God in bringing them safely on (v. 31). The safe arrival at the end of each day's journey is due to the good hand of our God upon us. After resting three days, the treasure was brought into the temple and burnt of offerings were made before the Lord Jehovah.
